2015

De Designpolitie is a creative agency that specialises in designs and strategies for visual communication. Besides producing work commissioned by its clients, Design Police also initiates and produces design projects and events. The method used is always clear and direct, combining simplicity, boldness and humour with critical analysis and fresh thinking. The final result is always striking, with a clear communicative message.

Design Police created Frascati Issues' campaign for Comme Une, a series of lectures, debates, talkshows and performances about the individual versus the collective.
